

Discusses Welfare Tobacco Industry Here

County Agent R. B. Hudgins issued a statement in regard to the tobacco situation yesterday, in which he said:

"What I have to say this week on the tobacco situation is taken from one of our leading farm papers. The following figures are actual facts and are enough to make the farmers do some thinking just to see how the growers profit compare with the manufacturers."

"A farmer delivered a 150-pound pile that sold for 8 cents a pound—$12. The auction fee was 15 cents, warehouse charges 10 cents, and 2 1/2 per cent commission on the $12 was 30 cents, making a total sales charge of 55 cents deducted from the $12. This left $11.45 as pay for growing the 150 pounds of tobacco."

"But what will the manufacturer get? With three pounds of tobacco making $1.00 in cigarettes, the 150-pound basket will make 60,000 cigarettes—2,500 packages of 20 cigarettes each. The retail trade—cigarettes retail at 15 cents a package. So the 2,500 packages manufactured from 150 pounds of tobacco will retail at $375. The farmer gets $11.45 for the raw material. The retailer gets $375 for the finished product. This leaves a margin of $363.55 to divide between the manufacturer, the government (in revenue tax), the jobber, and the retailer. The government exacts $3 per 1,000 in revenue tax, which in this case would be $150, leaving the manufacturer, jobber, and retailer dealers $213.55 as their share. We know that the jobbers and retail dealers do not make excessive profits so the manufacturers appear to be the ones that are reaping the golden harvest."

"Suppose this farmer wishes to take the proceeds of this 150-pound basket of tobacco and invest the $11.45 in cigarettes. He could only buy 76 packages out of the 2,500 packages that 150 pounds of tobacco would make—and have 5 cents left to buy matches. To light them with. But 8 cents is about the best price he received in tobacco. He sold some at 1/2 cent a pound and would take about 100 pounds of 1/2 cent a pound tobacco to get enough money above sales charges to buy one package of cigarette."

"This story tells its own lesson and should indeed make farmers do some thinking."

"Tobacco farmers in Virginia have received this tobacco prices with amazement and bitter resentment. Tobacco farmers in Kentucky have received prices with indignation which has resulted in moblike efforts at closing warehouses. But neither sullen resentment nor violence is the way out for tobacco farmers. There will be no permanent relief until farmers organize both to control production as far as possible and to market the product collectively."

"Ever since cooperative marketing has been an everlasting propaganda magnifying all the mistakes of cooperative marketing and ignoring all its potential benefits. But it will have to come back. And if, as seems to have been the case in South Carolina, a small cooperative was most economical and efficiently managed but buyers failed to give it a square deal, the Federal Farm Board must invoke all the might and power and majority of the United States government to remedy this situation. The right of growers to organize for marketing their product made in the sweat of their faces must be protected at all hazards."

U.D.C. Program Man Shot Near Arvonion Sat.

The Appomattox chapter U. D. C. met in the home of Mrs. C. S. McDermott December 17, with Messrs. Franklin, Nina and Anna as business guests. The business session took up many important transactions, including the annual program led by M. Anna Jones, with a sketch of "Wade Hampton, statesman and soldier."

The program for the year as prepared by the new historian of the Virginia Division, Mrs. Elizabeth Palmer, is as follows: January—"Lee, the Cavalry"; February—"Judith P. Benjamin"; Mrs. S. M. Thornton; March—"Gen. John B. Gordon"; Miss Elaine McDermott; April—"Father Ryan"; Mrs. K. M. Franklin; May—"Robert Toombs"; Mrs. W. T. Steele; June—"Jefferson Davis"; Mrs. W. L. Ould; July—"Basil Gildersleeve"; Mrs. C. C. Moore; August—"William Lawrence Vance"; Mrs. J. D. Morris; September—"Virginia's Laureate, James H. Hunt"; Mrs. W. Scott; November—"Sidney Lanier"; Miss Anna Caldwell.

On last Friday night quite a number of young society people from the Mantoo neighborhood, and Prospect and other places met at the dance hall conducted by Sheriff Jack Snoddy, at Dillwyn, and they seemed to have had a very successful evening.

The relatives of Judge Hall have good news of his improved condition at University hospital. Leon Grigg, who has been away for several years, returned home Tuesday afternoon. All of the teachers aboard in the village have given their best wishes for the Christmas holidays.

Miss Susie Spencer gave a dance Christmas Eve in honor of Midshipman Addison Spence. He was home for Christmas Eve night and Christmas morning. The dance was given by Misses Rosa Mosley, Louis Norris, Elsie Spencer, Frank Spencer and Charles Spencer. It was accompanied him to Annapolis Friday evening.

Mrs. W. E. Hardman is steadily improving in her home here after a long illness. Christmas services were held Sunday at St. Paul's Episcopal church, situated near the Appomattox-Prince Edward county line. This church is one of the oldest and most historic in the state.

Offer Plan To Co. Democrats Name Aid County Gov't In Va.

Richmond, Dec. 30.—The Commission on County Government, which was provided by the General Assembly of 1930 on recommendation of Governor Pollard, has completed a comprehensive report and copies thereof have been mailed to the members-elect of the General Assembly. This report which is the result of many months of investigation and study, including several public hearings, goes into considerable detail as to the present status of government in the counties and makes material recommendations looking toward improvement.

The first duty of a general plan setting forth optional forms of county government, to be submitted to the voters of the county in an election held for the purpose and approved by a majority of those voting thereon. The recommendations of the Commission are in the form of optional forms and are of outstanding part of its findings.

As a remedy for the defects in organization which characterize the counties of the Commonwealth, the Commission recommends two optional forms of county government, to be submitted to the voters of the county in an election held for the purpose and approved by a majority of those voting thereon. The recommendations of the Commission are in the form of optional forms and are of outstanding part of its findings.

Records Of Two Local Men At Capitol Good

Richmond, Dec. 30, (Special)—Historic Appomattox county returns to the Virginia senate for its 1932 term a veteran of twelve years legislative experience, Samuel Lewis Ferguson, of Appomattox. A. J. Terrell of New Canton, will also be a representative of the citizens of Appomattox and a Buckingham county in the House of Delegates.

Senator Ferguson is believed to be one of the strongest men in the Virginia Senate and works on his committees in a manner that he can easily get across to his fellow members his way of thinking. He graduated at the University of Virginia where he received a Bachelor of Law degree. Since that time he has been in Appomattox county and for eighteen years served as Commonwealth's Attorney. He has also been examiner of records of the county.

His popularity in his county and section is shown in the fact that he has never had any opposition either for his service as Commonwealth's Attorney or as a Senatorial representative. A member of the Masonic and Woodmen of the World orders, Senator Ferguson moves to Appomattox county, where he has been for many years. He is a native of Appomattox county, where he has been for many years.

A "well-baby" clinic will be held at the court house here Monday, January 1, at 2 P. M. This will also be an immunization clinic against diphtheria, typhoid and small pox. Dr. W. A. Brumfield and Dr. Dwight Rivers will be present and urge all mothers to bring their babies.
